

At the crossroads of Beacon and Washington Street, Washington Square has a unique identity in the mix of Brookline's commercial neighborhoods. The new 18 foot Victorian restoration clock can't be missed. Whether one is seeking a travel agent, gift shop, jeweler, dry cleaner, Asian or Russian grocer, video rental spot, old-fashioned hardware store, or pharmacy, Washington Square has a true small town buzz. The array of new restaurants springing up surely entices any adventurous diner. A pleasant counterpoint is nearby Driscoll School Playground.
